

The mining town I chose for this report is Helena Montana. Helena ended up becoming a boomtown. Shortly after people started to hear about the “new” mining town, they came to town. Helena used to be called Last Man Gulch. The population is about 31,000 people today. Most reasons that people live in Helena is because of the landscape. Helena has many outdoor things to see and since it is so big, there is a lot of room for more people. The people in Helena have many different jobs. There is construction, office jobs, teaching, and many more. A lot of people love to live in Helena. Helena became a territory of the United States in 1864. This town was founded by four men that were from Georgia. They immediately thought of it becoming a mining town. Once more people started coming to Helena, others started coming. Most people never left because of how great this town was to them. There are many great things about this town that people enjoy.
