Europeans	Both	Native Americans

Europeans were bringing in deadly diseases that the Native Americans were not immune to. Since it was way back into the day, there were no vaccines. So the Europeans had a very difficult time getting into any of the land the Natives were at. This all caused a lot of commotion.

Even though they had many differences with their land, they still had a desire for their land.

Native Americans wanted to keep their land safe but since they had differences with the Europeans, it got kind of difficult. The Native Americans didn't want what the Europeans were bringing in. They were bringing in many deadly diseases.