

CHAPTER 8 / Using Song as a Primary Source

Cowboys often sang songs while guarding the herd, which helped soothe the cattle. Songs can sometimes tell you how people in another time or place lived. The words can help explain feelings and thoughts as well as describe places. “The Texas Cowboy” is a song by an unknown songwriter. Read the song and then answer the questions below.

The Texas Cowboy (selected verses)

- |                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1 Oh, I am a Texas cowboyFar away from home,If ever I get back to TexasI never more will roam.                         | 5 I’ve traveled lots of country,—Nebraska’s hills of sand,Down through the Indian nation,And up the Rio Grande;—    |
| 2 Montana is too cold for meAnd the winters are too long;Before the round-ups do beginOur money is all gone.           | 6 But the Bad Lands of MontanaAre the worst I ever seen,The cowboys are all tenderfeetAnd the doggies are too lean. |
| 3 Take this old hen-skin bedding,Too thin to keep me warm,—I nearly freeze to death, my boys,Whenever there’s a storm. | 7 All along the Yellowstone’Tis cold the year around;You will surely get consumptionBy sleeping on the ground.      |
| 4 I have an outfit on the Mussel Shell,But that I’ll never see,Unless I get to representThe Circle or D.T.             | 8 Come all you Texas cowboysAnd warning take from me,And do not go to MontanaTo spend your money free.              |

—From Cowboy Songs and Other Frontier Ballads
(New York, 1922)

- (1) What is the subject of this song? traveling in cold weather
- (2) Identify the physical features and locations mentioned in the song. Montana and Texas. it explains how cold the weather is.
- (3) What is the general mood of the person singing? What are the chief complaints of the singer? he wants to travel back to where he started.
- (4) Many young men came to Montana to be cowboys. Do you think the feelings of this cowboy were shared by the majority of cowboys? Why or why not? i think so because if one cowboy is saying its cold then the other ones are probably cold as well.